

STRATEGIC PERFORMANCE MANAGEMENT

Enhance your knowledge!

Providing effective feedback has become a dynamic and ongoing process. Employees want to see the link between what they do and the organizational goals. As new skills emerge due to new ways we all work, organizations need to revisit their performance management existing processes.

Join us for the November session of the HR in a Box series that will provide you with a unique learning opportunity with leading HR experts to delve into the complex and critical nature of performance management and how design an effective, integrated, strategy.

Julianna Cantwell, CPHR, will discuss how to combine the various elements of an effective integrated performance review process and explore whether upcoming technological shifts may impact performance management in the future.

Barb Read, CPHR, in her presentation, will focus on the role of strategic total compensation in attracting and retaining talent, particularly in an era of rapidly changing skills sets that need to be included in a total rewards system.

The session will invite you to provide input into case studies that will form the basis of the group work during the session. You will share ideas, work together on strategies, develop practical solutions to real issues, and take away tips and tools to implement at your workplace.
